PRIMETIME/ACCESS PRIMETIME | 1X 77 MINUTES | SPECIAL

THE GREAT MILLIONAIRE DECEPTION

On 10 September 2001, Major Charles Ingram made a now notorious appearance on the world's most successful quiz show and succeeded in winning the top prize of one million pounds ... through deception. Ingram and his two accomplices, his wife Diana and Tecwen Whittock, a college lecturer who appeared in the same recording as the Major, faced a criminal trial and were each subsequently found guilty as charged. Who Wants To Steal A Million?, which was watched by 18 million people on ITV1 in the U.K., details the events surrounding Major Ingram's appearance on Who Wants To Be A Millionaire? The programme features interviews with key production personnel who were present at the recordings, as well as security experts and behavioural psychologists.
